To Her Excellency Laura Fernández Delgado

President of the Republic of Costa Rica

Presidential House, San José

Madam President,

I am writing to you at a historic juncture as Costa Rica enters a new chapter under your leadership. By electing you as the 50th president, the people of Costa Rica have made a decisive choice for a mix of continuity and necessary renewal. We are a nation of 5.3 million people, and our path has always been unique: abolishing our army in favor of education, prioritizing environmental stewardship, and committing to peace as the bedrock of our society.

However, 2026 demands more than just adherence to tradition. Our citizens voted for you with the expectation that you would be the force that not only protects our achievements but also meets the pressing challenges of our time. Today, Costa Rica faces the urgent need to strengthen public security, modernize the state apparatus, and ensure that economic growth is felt in every household—from the bustling streets of San José to the remote coffee plantations.

Your victory is a clear signal: the country desires a more efficient, decisive, and modern state. We look to your administration for the agility to compete in the global digital economy and the discipline to ensure our social institutions are not just functional, but world-class. Our seniors, who helped forge our stability, and our youth, who aspire to global horizons, are looking to you with the hope that their country remains a place where opportunities multiply rather than diminish.

Madam President, Costa Rica is a beacon of democracy in the region. Do not let our legacy be defined by political disputes. Let it be defined as the era in which we proved that even in a turbulent world, one can combine economic pragmatism with deep respect for human dignity and nature. Prove that our "Pura Vida" path is not just a motto, but a dynamic, successful reality.

With the hope of a citizen,

A Concerned Costa Rican

Sovereign Performance Audit: Costa Rica (June 2026)

Sector

Score

Summary

Political Stability

4.0

High; strong electoral mandate supports significant structural reform.

Economic Development

4.0

Robust; leader in high-tech exports and eco-tourism, aiming for further liberalization.

Social Infrastructure

3.5

High, but requires modernization to ease the burden on the middle class.

National Resilience

4.5

Excellent; robust commitment to climate goals and democratic institutions.

Final Verdict: 4.0 / The Era of Change.

Costa Rica is in a phase of "active renewal" under Laura Fernández. The mandate for 2026 is "results-oriented governance"—translating campaign promises regarding security and institutional reform into concrete improvements while maintaining the social consensus.
